

My Friend Has Cancer

Learn why it's important in your role to treat the person not just the cancer.

'My Friend Has Cancer' is a new learning resource that explores the healing powers of friendship and personalised care, guided by lived experience voices. This original audio story and learning resource can be used as a training tool to spark thoughts and discussion around the topic, aiding you and/or your team's personal and organisational development.

Everything in the audio story has been cocreated by 'real people' living with cancer. They have bravely shared their lived experience, imaginations, and creativity to help others.

We hope it gives you strength, knowledge, and most of all hope.
